THE COURAGEOUS RACE

A fun-filled fundraising event to help benefit Jordyn's cause.

Meet Jordyn – www.lovejordyn.com

Jordyn is a cute and charming little girl who was living the life of an ordinary preschooler until one day in September, 2010 when she was suddenly diagnosed with cancer. As you can imagine, Jordyn's medical bills and expenses are mounting. Now the entire South Florida community is pulling together to carry out a giant fundraising event called the Courageous Race to help Jordyn in her fight against cancer.

What's The Courageous Race All About?

The Courageous Race will be held on Saturday March 19, 2011 at the Parkland YMCA. The Courageous Race is a day-long event that is fun for the whole family and people of all ages. It is loosely based on the hit TV show 'The Amazing Race'. Teams will compete to win prizes by finding clues, racing to different locations, completing challenges and continuing on to the next stage of the race. We are looking for teams of four, or if you are unable to gather a team together, we will team you up with other participants.

How Can I Help?

We need as many race teams as possible! We would like to invite individuals, friends, families, co-workers and local residents to be a part of the race and to contribute to Jordyn's fund. Thank you for helping an angel grow up cancer-free!

A portion of the proceeds from the Courageous Race will benefit The American Cancer Society through Relay For Life of Parkland.
